This beautiful 51-acre property on Charlie Rhodus Road in Osyka, Mississippi, offers an excellent opportunity for hunting, a small farm, or a country homesite. Located in Pike County, the tract features approximately 16 acres of recently sprayed old pasture, making it ideal for dove and turkey hunting, large food plots, or livestock. An old homesite sits along the road with power running along the frontage, while large hardwood trees mark the old fence lines and add character to the property. The remaining acreage consists of mixed timber with plenty of wooded areas and a small creek running through the tract, providing excellent wildlife habitat and recreational opportunities. Located just 10 minutes off Interstate 55 and a couple of miles north of the Louisiana state line, this property offers convenient access and a peaceful country setting. For buyers wanting additional acreage, adjoining land to the south may also be purchased. Whether you're looking for an affordable hunting tract, a place to raise cattle, or a beautiful spot to build your new home, this 51-acre property in Osyka deserves a look!
